

ANNUAL REPORT 2000-2001
SHELTON STATE COMMUNITY COLLEGE
April 23, 2001

The Shelton State Alumni Association completes another year of active involvement. Founded in 1995, the Alumni Association has grown to be a vital part of the college. Seventy-five people joined the Alumni Association this year under the leadership of President Pat Headrick.

The year began in July with a dinner retreat for the Alumni Council at the home of Lucy Kubiszyn. Plans were made for the Alumni Association for the year 2000-2001 with a membership campaign kick off in September. We held the first business meeting of the year in September. Past, present, and potential members were contacted by mail and by telephone. A newsletter also was published in September. The campaign ended on a successful note with a membership party at the University Club in October.

During Shelton State's Homecoming, the Alumni Association sold concessions during the ball games. Proceeds from the evening funded the association's scholarship program along with monies raised from the Santa Letters project.

Additional business meetings were held in January and in April. The Annual Meeting was scheduled for Monday, April 23. The Alumni Association invited Alabama author Ben Erickson to be the guest speaker. Shelton's nominees for the Chancellor's Awards will be recognized along with new officers for 2001-2003.

In May the Alumni Association will host its Family Fun Night at Bama Golf. Families are invited to attend.

Shelton lost one of its founding members with the death of Louise Pruett. In recognition of her life and her dedication to Shelton, the Shelton State Alumni Association named its scholarship the Louise Pruett Endowed Scholarship fund. The recipient this year is Carol Henderson.
